Mayville residents queried on sewer

By MICHAEL DANIELS
Bethel Sewer District Superintendent Rob Gundersen will be ringing doorbells in Mayville this week, asking residents if they'd like a sewer in their neighborhood.

"It will be an aggressive solicitation of views and sentiments," said Town Manager Scott Cole. "We'll hand carry when we can, mail when we cannot."

Cole estimates there are only two-dozen properties that would be potentially affected, but those properties could eventually have as many as 400 dwelling units.

In a letter to the property owners along the possible sewer route, Cole wrote:

"The Town of Bethel is considering extension of a sewer main (now capped at the new bridge) eastward along Route 2 for a distance of approximately 3,200 feet. About $5,000 in sewer reserve funds has been spent preparing a preliminary design, now under review. No decisions have been made. However, if the work is going to be done at all, it is likely to

School tax passes

By ALISON ALOISIO

SAD44 voters Tuesday approved $1,902,740 in additional local funds for the FY'07 school budget. The vote was 334 to 185. The School Board recently cut $78,000 from the $9,911,861 general fund budget that had been put before voters in a June 13 referendum.

In that referendum, voters defeated the additional local funds article, but approved all the others.

The additional local funds article is funded 100 percent with local money. The state provides a share of aid in other parts of the budget.

The board made cuts in response to the June 13 vote, and only the additional local article was re-voted Tuesday.

The breakdown of the referendum vote by town is as follows, with the affirmative votes listed first: Andover, 32 to 12; Bethel, 176 to 105; Greenwood, 37 to 22; Newry, 25 to 11; and Woodstock, 64 to 35.

"We're pleased that the budget passed," said Superintendent Dave Murphy Wednesday. "We've been trying to help people become more familiar with the budget and funding process over the past couple of months, and we'll continue to work on that in the next budget year."

MDOT chips in for Howe Hill Road work

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Funds from the Maine Department of Transportation's Roads to Jobs Program will make it possible for Greenwood to complete this year's rebuilding of Howe Hill Road without tapping into storm-reimbursement funds from the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

Town officials were notified last week that MDOT will chip in $19,450 for this year's rebuilding effort, and another $15,200 if the town goes ahead next year with plans to pave the road.

The state money is available because of the presence on Howe Hill Road of Mt. Abram's Westside Lodge.

The Roads to Jobs Program provides assistance in upgrading roads that access businesses such as ski areas and industrial parks.

At their annual Town Meeting in March, Greenwood voters agreed to raise $80,000 to

Bowling alley floor steps up in life

By ALISON ALOISIO

For 50 years, two wooden bowling lanes sat idle in the basement of a building next to the Andover General Store.

Norm Gagnon, who owns both buildings, recently made plans to expand his store into the adjacent structure. He pondered what he might do with the bowling lanes.

"I looked first at selling them on e-Bay," he said.

At the same time, he was also thinking about building a larger lunch counter in his store.

"I thought, 'Why not use them for the counter?'" he said.

So he hired carpenter Ken Perry of Livermore Falls to adapt one of the 52-foot lanes into a 24-foot counter. They put it in place about a month ago.

Gagnon's customers, he said, "loved it. The locals know what it is."

One of those locals is Otis Morton, who bowled on the candlepin lanes as a boy in the 1940s. He said the bowling alley was built in the early 20th century.

"They had to [manually] set up the pins," Morton said. "School boys used to do it."

The alley, owned first by Walter Barnes, was only open in the summer, because the basement location was too cold in the winter, Morton said.

"It opened in the afternoon, until 9 at night," he said.

The wood in the lanes came from rock maple, yellow birch and beech trees, said Morton.

The alley shut down in the 1950s, he said.

What does he think of eating off the lanes now?

"I think it was a good idea [to convert them]," he said.

Out-of-towners are also intrigued by the counter, Gagnon said. "They ask, 'Where'd you get this? They think it's pretty neat,'" he said.

Gagnon said he's happy to preserve in some form the history of the former bowling alley.

He still has 75 feet of lane wood left. Now he's thinking about what to do with that.

"I might sell the rest," Gagnon said. "Or I might build tables with it for the dining room."

Andover Firemen's Association seeks private funding for new station

By ALISON ALOISIO

A new fire station in East Andover will mean a safer response to fires, space to park trucks now sitting outside in the weather, and continued fire protection for residents, says Fire Chief Ken Dixon.

And because voters at recent Town Meetings have not yet been convinced of the need for such a station, plans for its construction are now underway with private funding.

"We're hoping to raise $85,000," said Dixon. "The labor will be volunteer."

The old station on Route 120, built in the 1940s, measures approximately 30x12 feet. The pumper truck that it houses measures about 28x8.5 feet, Dixon said. It's a tight squeeze for both the truck and the driver trying to get in and out.

The close quarters and proximity to the road also restrict the driver from pulling out safely, Dixon said.

Only a right turn is possible, and the truck must cross the road before it clears the station enough to turn. A nearby crest in the road makes for poor sight distance.

So the private Andover Firemen's Association recently purchased an acre of land about a half mile down the road, with good visibility

Sen. Wm. Cohen exhibition opens at Historical Society

By ALISON ALOISIO

A traveling exhibition documenting former Sen. Bill Cohen's political career is making its first stop in Bethel, a few miles from where he began his famous 1972 campaign walk across Maine.

The exhibition, entitled "Cohen, Congress, and Controversy: Rediscovering Civics in the Archives," opened Tuesday. It is co-hosted here by the Bethel and Gilead historical societies, and is on display at the BHS Robinson House.

Venues for the yearlong tour will follow the route of Cohen's walk across the Second Congressional District.

A Republican, he started his campaign for the U.S. House of Representatives that year at the New Hampshire border in Gilead, and walked through Rumford, Wilton, Lewiston, Skowhegan, Bangor, Millinocket, Houlton, Caribou and Fort Kent.

The exhibition features examples of the William S. Cohen Papers, which Cohen donated in 1998 to the University of Maine.

Cohen's career in elected office spanned almost 30 years. A native of Bangor, he was educated at Bowdoin College and Boston University.

He served in Bangor city government from 1969 to 1972, in the U.S. House of Representa-

CONDEMN THE SLUR

To the Editor:
We, the Board of Selectmen and town manager, condemn in the strongest possible language the recent racial slur incident that occurred on Main Street. This is an instance of thoroughly reprehensible behavior that should never be tolerated at any time or any place. It should be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law whenever possible.

SHOULD NOT HAPPEN AGAIN

To the Editor:
Last week, I had the opportunity to visit your beautiful town for the first time while attending an NTL session. As many colleagues had told me, Bethel is a very special place, full of beautiful sights and friendly people. I truly enjoyed the session and meeting participants from different walks of life and varied experiences who all shared a common interest in making a difference in the organizations they work with and in making the world a better place.

However on Tuesday, I was involved in an incident that deeply shocked and hurt me. As I was walking along Main Street with a training participant who happens to be African-American, a brown pickup truck passed us by and slowed down while the passenger, a young white American, leaned out the window and shouted a hateful racial slur at my colleague. At first, I could not believe what I had just heard. Here I was, in a town known for its welcoming of people from all places, with a rich history of over 60 years of tolerance and social justice. Here I was, in that place, hearing a comment that as a Canadian I have never heard directed at anyone I ever walked with and which I hope never to hear again.

A little naively I guess, I believed that in 2006 those things did not happen anymore and especially not in such a place. The hateful incident of last week is a brutal reminder that we all need to remain vigilant and that much work remains to be done. On a personal level, I was deeply hurt because of the hate directed at a wonderful woman who I am now proud to consider my friend. As a Canadian white woman, I feel shame that we have not come farther than this and that such ignorance and violence are still very much alive in our world.

While I was able to process this incident with the help of our wonderful and committed trainers and our whole training community, part of the pain I felt last week stays with me as a reminder that much remains to be done to foster tolerance, appreciation for diversity and social justice.

I believe people in your town need to be aware of what happened so that such incidents do not happen again.

EMBARRASSED THE COMMUNITY

To the Editor:
For sixty years the NTL Institute has been a presence in Bethel, bringing people from around the country and around the world to participate in our programs. We know that the vast majority of Bethel residents have valued the diversity that our members and participants represent. They have welcomed us and often enjoyed the opportunity to join in Sunrise Seminars and other NTL programs.

It was particularly distressing, therefore, when two of our participants were exposed to blatant bigotry and racial intimidation. The incident, while traumatic, provided an opportunity for learning. Our highly skilled trainers supported the victims and the entire group gained heightened awareness of the continuing challenge of racism in our society.

We appreciate the seriousness with which Bethel officials and community leaders have responded to this incident. The many expressions of concern and support we have received from residents reinforces our belief that Bethel is a special place. We hope it will continue to be a place where diversity is welcome and will do the work necessary to educate those who embarrass the community with their intolerance.

*Margaret Tyndall
President and CEO, NTL Institute*

Clarification: An article in the July 13 Citizen on the John Grover House should have said that Bethel Inn managing partner Allen Connors' discussion with Bethel Historical Society representatives several years ago regarding the house referred to the BHS' focus in the 1970s on Broad Street in the creation of the Historic District, and the fact that BHS did not at that time consider the Grover House for inclusion. Randy Bennett's acknowledgement of a discussion on the Historic District noted in the article also referred to the 1970s decision-making process.

DISTRESSING ACT

To the Editor:
I am writing in response to the series of letters published in your July 20 issue regarding a distressing act of bigotry occurring in Bethel last week. First, I would like to thank the paper, all who wrote, especially Ms. Payne for speaking out and bringing this unfortunate incident to public attention. I would like to echo Mr. Hatch's apology to Ms. Payne and to the other guests who witnessed or heard about the event. As a taxpayer, family man and as one who is very fond of Bethel, I would like to stand with you all in denouncing these cowardly acts of racism. I want to say that I — and because I feel safe in representing hundreds of friends in Bethel — we share your moral values of equality, respectful appreciation of difference and of treating others with care and esteem. I want you all to know that we stand with you today, a coalition of voices saying "not in our town." We, citizens of Bethel, stand together and clearly voice opposition and outrage at any acts of bigotry or intolerance. We are sending a message that the only dignity that will be assaulted in these acts are those of the perpetrators. One thing is certain about this incident — bigotry is a direct reflection upon the perpetrator and their lack of decency and dignity. I ask the young man who displayed such lacking dignity to apologize.

I am optimistic the event in Bethel was isolated. It will remain to be seen by responses that follow. This summer, in western Maine, these seemingly isolated acts of racism or bigotry are unfortunately becoming more common. You need only to pick a paper to read stories about recent hate crimes committed in Lewiston and Poland.

I agree with Ms. Payne's most important point. If we allow an initial negative act to define where our conversation and actions end, we are missing a vital opportunity. I encourage the people of Bethel to stand up and be heard — "not in our town!" I further propose the town leadership find a way to craft an inclusively statement that will make it clear where we stand as a community regarding diversity and difference. Are we to be thought of as a welcoming town or a bigoted town? The answer lies in our collective actions and individual responses. I ask the citizenry of Bethel to view this incident as a catalyst for dialogue and as a call to action in reaffirming community commitment to treating our guests, and each other, in a caring and compassionate manner.

With appreciation and concern,

*Jonathan "Joe" Clark

WHAT ARE THEY UP TO?

To the Editor:
In January 2006 the Greenwood Fire Department re-elected Ray Seames as fire chief. The Board of Selectmen did not agree with the choice that the Fire Department made. They had decided on their own who they thought should be fire chief, but the Fire Department did not feel that their chosen person was the right one for the position.

From then on, the selectmen began giving Ray Seames a very hard time. They said there were things that were not getting done correctly or not at all. The selectmen never took the proper steps for warning Ray or speaking to him on these matters. By April 2006, Ray had enough of what was going on and he resigned as chief but still volunteered as a firefighter.

The selectmen took it upon themselves to elect me (Ken Card) as the fire chief without talking it over with me first. Due to other volunteers having jobs and prior commitments, there was no one else to take the position. I work for the town of Greenwood, so I am in the area a lot, so I figured I would help out as chief until they hired someone for the position. There were no expectations given, so I tried doing the best I could along with the rest of the department.

Since this happened there have been a lot of rules made up with no communication with the Fire Department. For example the selectmen told taxpayers to think that the Fire Department needed new ordinances for safety reasons; this is not the case.

Four months have passed, the fire chief position has not been a priority, they have hired a constable and have signed contracts on road work. For the time I was acting fire chief, they decided to pay me the same as I was getting for second assistant. It shows they are looking out for themselves and do not care about the people that go the extra mile for the town of Greenwood. As of July 7, 2006, I have resigned as acting fire chief.

The question is, when does it stop? Your town has barely enough daytime response; they are relying on other towns. It is time the townspeople start asking some questions and find out what the selectmen of Greenwood are up to.

BICYCLE TIME TRIAL

To the Editor:
Have you ever wondered how fast you could go on a bicycle over 13 miles of mostly flat Maine road? On the morning of Sunday, July 30, you can find out at the 2006 Bethel Bicycle Time Trial, part of the Aegis Race Series. The course is an out-and-back: out on Vernon Street from the American Legion Hall to the intersection of routes 5 and 35 at the Albany Town Hall and back to the Legion Hall. Men and women, boys and girls, experienced and inexperienced riders are welcome. Racers are racing against the clock, not each other, so this is a great opportunity to just ride. Helmets are required. Riders under the age of 18 must have the written permission of a parent or legal guardian to participate. To enter, drop by the front desk of the Sudbury Inn and pick up a form, or go online to the Bicycle Coalition of Maine's website at www.bikemaine.org, or register onsite at the Legion Hall parking lot at 8 a.m. Sunday, July 30. There is an entry fee of $12 for those registering before July 24, or $15 thereafter. Start order is determined by the order of registration. This time trial is part of a series held around Maine every summer.

If you are not up for the ride but enjoy the excitement of seeing folks go fast, come out and volunteer. We are always looking for timers, traffic monitors, bib-callers, racer holder-uppers and other positions. Contact Nancy White at the Sudbury Inn if you would like to help out. Many, many thanks to the American Legion for the use of their parking lot. Hope to see all kinds of area cyclists there.

The Friends of Telstar appreciate all the efforts of the businesses and community to help make this show a success on Mollycokett Day. When the community stands behind its public schools and the students who attend them, great events can become a reality. It truly does take a village to raise a child.

Station

ity and plenty of space for a new station. Its dimensions will be about 51x60 feet, Dixon said.

Enough money has been raised to put in footers, pour concrete for the floor, and frame up a shell this season, he said.

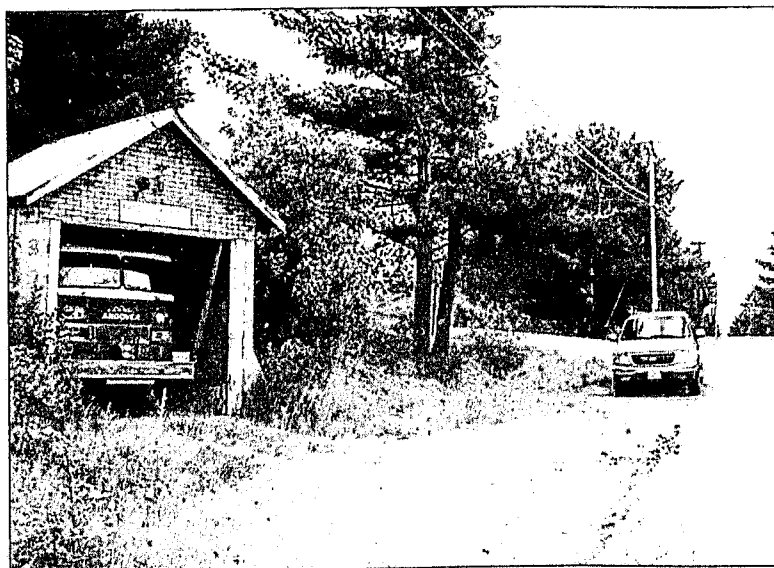

A substantial amount of structural steel has been donated for the project.

The goal is to erect a structure with enough cover for the pumper truck for this winter.

"It may not be pretty," said Dixon, but will serve the purpose until there are enough funds for more work.

The station will eventually have three doors. Dixon also plans to house an Andover Rescue truck, a forestry truck and a trailer containing equipment for the town's technical rescue team at the new location.

Currently, the trailer and forestry vehicle, as well as a fire truck, are parked outdoors at the central station in Andover Village.

TIGHT SQUEEZE—Andover's pumper truck barely fits in the old East Andover Station, and can only turn right when leaving it. Poor sight distance to the left is also a concern. Chief Ken Dixon and the Andover Firemen's Association have begun a private fundraising effort to pay to build a new station nearby.

Fire safety

Dixon said between a quarter and a third of Andover's population lives in East Andover.

He believes it's important to keep a fire truck housed nearby. It takes approximately six minutes to drive a truck the four miles from the central station to East Andover, he said.

Mutual aid from other towns is about a half hour away in Rumford and Mexico, said Dixon. "We're at the end of the line," he said, with no towns having fire departments abutting Andover in any other direction.

The presence of the pumper truck will also help keep residents' homeowners insurance rates down, he said.

Town votes mixed

Dixon said recent Town Meeting votes regarding a new station have often been close, with mixed support from both parts of town.

The warrant articles were not worded to raise town money, he said, but to authorize Andover to apply for grant funds to help build a station.

In June, Dixon and AFA president Elaine Morton sent out a letter asking for donations from taxpayers.

Anyone interested in donating to the fund may send contributions to East Andover Fire Station Fund, P.O. Box 402, Andover, ME 04216.

Mayville

"The initial extension (Phase I) would terminate in the vicinity of the Irving station, and serve properties in the immediate area only, to include Irving itself and the Twitchell Brook condominium complex now under construction.

"Topographic conditions dictate that the initial piece of pipe be a 'force main' to transport collected effluent from a pump station near Irving, and running toward the bridge on the easterly side of the highway.

"Dependent on property owners' responses, general level of interest, and financing alternatives, the town may choose to expand the level of service beyond Phase I next spring, or over a longer period of time. Expansion beyond Phase I would involve installation of a separate 'gravity main' on the westerly side of the highway, with effluent flowing toward the Irving pump station and its force main."

Cost uncertainties

Funds for any such work would have to be borrowed by the town, Cole said, with the money to be paid back by Mayville customers over a 30-year period.

The payback would be in the form of a special assessment beyond the normal fee (currently a minimum of $105 per quarter paid by sewer users).

Cole estimated the range of the special assessment at $32 to $125 per quarter.

Figures for the overall cost of such a project are still very preliminary, Gundersen said Wednesday, ranging from $400,000 for Phase One alone, to well over a million dollars for full build out.

Mike Pelletier, developer of the Twitchell Brook project, has pledged $100,000 if the sewers are put in to his property (which would allow him to build more units).

"That's a big thing," Pelletier told the selectmen at a special meeting Monday, "and my window [for construction] is closing."

In Cole's letter to Mayville residents, he described the benefits of such a project, as "subjective and in the eye of the beholder. Properties served by municipal sewer can be more intensely developed for residential or commercial purpose. Market values of properties with sewer service tend to be higher than they would otherwise be.

"The town's interest in sewerage the Mayville area lies in best serving commercial growth along a stretch of road that is already carrying heavy traffic, and likely to see further development in the future."

Mayville residents Don Bennett and Jeff Parsons also attended Monday's selectmen's meeting.

Both urged the selectmen to press forward.

"There's no reason why Mayville can't join the rest of the world with water and sewer," Bennett said. (Mayville does have Bethel Water District service from the Androscoggin River to the residence of Norm and Sylvia Clanton.)

Parsons said it was time for the town to move forward with the work.

"There is no question that that Mayville area is the area in town that is going to grow, to develop, and you've got to control that," he said. "My sense is that this is not the time for the selectmen to draw back at the brink of some development."

"I don't think we have," replied Board Chair Stan Howe. "We're trying to figure out the best way to proceed. ... All we're interested in is what is people's reaction to this project, and if they're not in favor of it, we shouldn't proceed."

And, he added, there was the matter of cost.

"I think we all think it's a good thing in concept," Howe said, "but we've got to figure out how to do it without bankrupting the town."

The selectmen will take up the matter again at their next meeting, Aug. 7.

tives from 1973 to 1978, and in the U.S. Senate from 1979 to 1996. After his retirement from the Senate he accepted an appointment from Pres. Bill Clinton to serve as secretary of defense, a position he held from 1997 to 2001.

Cohen was in Congress during two Constitutional crises, the presidential impeachment in 1974 and the Iran-Contra investigations of 1987. He received national attention when he broke ranks with the Republican Party on the two issues.

Panels in the display illustrate six topics: Election Strategy, including campaign memorabilia, photos, mementos and speeches; Campaign Walks, including maps, photos and worn-out shoes; Powers

Granted to Congress, including descriptions of the roles of a congressman; One Year in the U.S. Senate, including the workings of Congress on a day-to-day basis, using photos, index cards and quotes from Cohen's book "Roll Call;" Supervising the Executive, including oversight work; and Adventures in Oversight, including examples from Cohen's career experiences with Watergate, Iran-Contra and the Information Technology Management Reform Act.

The exhibition also includes displays geared to children, such as diagrams of the three branches of government.

The exhibition will stay at each Maine site for about six weeks. Its stay in Bethel will end Sept. 8.

pay for reconstruction of the often muddy stretch of road, but the lowest bid received for the project was for $91,770.

To make up the shortfall, selectmen initially planned to use the FEMA funds, which were reimbursement for snowstorms in 2005.

But as a result of last week's news, the FEMA funds can now be rolled forward, and be available for projects next year, according to Town Manager and Road Commissioner Kim Sparks.

Town officials hope that one of those projects will be paving ing Howe Hill Road, at an estimated cost of $75,000.

This year's rebuilding work is already underway, Sparks said. Brush is being cleared and the dirt work is expected to begin Aug. 1.

The road will remain open throughout the construction period, Sparks said.

BRYANT POND CHURCH CELEBRATES 150th—On Saturday and Sunday, July 29 and 30, the Bryant Pond Baptist Church will celebrate 150 years of worship in the present church building. On Saturday there will be a dedication service at 11 a.m., with games and events from noon to 4 p.m. At 9:15 a.m. on Sunday, there will be a special Sunday School class for the children on the history of the church. The morning worship service will be at 10:30 a.m. with Dr. Robbie Morrison speaking. The Taub family will provide the music during the dedication, and present a musical concert on Sunday at 1:30 p.m. John and Carol Taub along with their seven children, perform with a blend of vocal harmonies and stringed instruments. Dr. Robbie Morrison will be the main speaker for the dedication and celebration. He and his wife of 31 years have been in ministry for 28 years. The last 12 years has been as a missionary. He is currently the director of All Points Baptist Mission. He has made 45 trips out of the country preaching in 15 different countries. The church body and covenant was established in 1828. When the building was completed at a cost of $1,950 in 1856, there were 91 members. Six men have been ordained through this church. The first pastors were not supported by the church but were missionaries and student pastors. The first settled pastor, Mr. Henry A. Brown, accepted the call in July 1901. Mrs. A. Mont Chase presented the bell to the church in 1906 in memory of her father, Francis T. Faulkner. The parsonage lot was purchased in 1902 and completed in 1912. The longest stay of a pastor was 35 years by Pastor Linwood Hanson (1963-98). He was ordained by Bryant Pond Baptist Church on July 16, 1968. Pastor Hanson will share his memories of the 35 years at the dedication service Saturday. The current pastor, Mr. Laurence Hodgkins, has been at the church two years. Many changes have been made over the years to the building and many pastors and members have come and gone, but the message of the Gospel of Jesus Christ has stayed the same.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

How hot was it? Well, it was certainly hot enough for me. In fact, it was hot enough for me when the thermometer hit 80 degrees and everything above that was too hot.

I hate to complain because for one thing, it does no good and for another, when cold weather arrives I really start complaining. I'll take the heat over the Arctic cold of winter any day, but a little less heat or at least a little less humidity would be nice.

Putting my underwear in the freezer prior to putting it on just doesn't seem to be the most practical way to cool down, but I tried it anyway.

This past week the problem of the heat was compounded by trying to keep up with my 7 and 10 year-old grandsons who were staying with me while their parents were out of town.

These youngsters are around my house quite frequently and they do occasionally spend the night, but I always had the option of saying, "Enough is enough, I'm taking you home." Having them 24/7 for the whole week with no option of sending them home is quite a different experience.

It was also a learning experience for me. I learned that my energy level would drop in direct proportion to their energy level rising. I learned that the years I have spent being a very indulgent grandmother would come back to haunt me. And I learned that the heat doesn't bother the little kids until you ask them to pick up their toys.

I found it easier to give in to candy for breakfast than to fight with them over eating something substantial. I discovered that chicken nuggets are a staple for all children under the age of 12 and they can eat them at least once a day every day.

Did you know that when staying in your house, your grandchildren will yell for you more times per minute than a politician can lie? Their grandfather didn't help matters because every time one of the kids would call "Mimi," if I didn't respond immediately Grampa would shout, "Mimi, Reese or Elijah need you right now!"

When the kids first started talking and called me Mimi I thought it was so cute. By week's end I cringed every time I heard it, which was approximately every ten seconds.

And, then there was the heat. The energy draining, sweat in every crevice, clothing sticking to your body heat. Every time I would go to the bathroom and managed to peel off the clothing to do what nature intended I would hear "MIMI come quick." One or the other child always seemed to pick that time to get hurt, spill a drink or break something.

Peeling damp clothing off a sweaty body is difficult enough, but attempting to put them back in place in a hurry is darn near impossible!

Fortunately a few trips to the beach brought about some relief. The kids swam and played and I sat in the shade and tried to read a book. However, I kept having visions of one of the boys floating face down and me not knowing CPR and unable to get to them in time. So, basically, I sat in the shade shouting, "That's far enough." "Don't splash your brother." "Don't go where the water is above your chest." And the kids personal favorite, "Don't make me come in there after you!"

Throughout the week I reminded myself on several occasions that I did in fact raise my two children with a minimal amount of problems and we all survived. I also reminded myself that I was a lot younger and I didn't spoil my children like I do my grandchildren. And, I reminded myself that with or without the children it would still be hot and without them I would probably just loll around complaining about how darn hot it is.

We all got through the week and when you get right down to it, we had a pretty good time of it. The children finally went home and the heat stayed. I'm picking up toys as I trip over them and eventually my house will be back to normal.

Right now my grandsons think I am the greatest grandmother in the world and I am grateful for the time I spend with them. All too soon they will be teenagers and probably won't want to spend all that much time hanging around with me and most likely Mimi will become Gram. So I'll cherish the times I have with them now because the way I see it I have some very cool grandsons. I just hope the next time the cool kids come to visit it won't be quite so darn hot.

tised for sale was reported. During the week I unearthed the following story from one of history's nooks and crannies:

In July, 1893, the Oxford County Advertiser printed a story about the sale of the Mason Farm in Bethel — now the Norseman Inn.

"Saturday Mr. Mason sold his entire farm and (Riverside Trotting) track to Charles Ryerson of Upton for $10,000. Mr. Ryerson is a large lumber operator and has bought this for his future home. He will continue his lumbering during the winter season. He intends to convert the large two-story house into a hotel.

"In the year 1791 (1798) Moses Mason, grandfather to the recent owner, came from Dublin, Mass., (actually New Hampshire) on horseback bringing with him 1000 silver dollars which he gave for his farm. The farm contains about 200 acres including timberland, and all in one lot."

Now the follow-up question is how much did Moses Mason's saddlebags weigh with 1000 silver dollars in them?

At Twitchell Brook Estates concrete forms for its first building appeared during the week. Overheard on the streets of Mayville — who determines what is a wetland? It seems to casual long-time observers that this development is surrounded on three sides by lands soggy enough to be called "wet."

Mike Thurston has been home from his sojourn at Rumford's health spa on Franklin Street hill for some time. He claims to be 100 percent mobile but that comment raises an eyebrow in the case of some people.

At the new Schiavi Homes Sales Center, I talked with Steve Richard again about how their first month in business has gone. The staff is quite pleased with the attention given the sales center by potential new home seekers. Prospects are showing up from New Hampshire towns Berlin, Milan and Errol. In Maine they have gotten the attention of couples in the Rumford and Farmington area. What Mr. Richard commented on also is how the last month has given everyone at the sales center an opportunity to get a better feel for the local market. He mentioned that locally there are a fair number of homes built on "Spec" that reflect the developer's perception of buyer preference — such as simulated log siding. (Right on schedule a passer-by dumped a piece of log siding on our front lawn.) Despite having model homes at the sales center, Schiavi emphasizes to a prospective new buyer that they can build a home customized to the couple's preference right down to door knobs and window framing.

After reading in the Mayville news that Tom White was looking for Korean War information, Herbert Dunham called me. Mr. Dunham's experience and Korean service very closely matched that of the subject that is to be sculpted — even to the fact that both men carried the same type of weapon.

From our host of far-flung correspondents (Citizen readers) I have heard from two recently. Dwight Lord e-mailed me after reading about the time my cousin and I had our first airplane ride. Dwight, Gould Academy 1962, is a cousin of my cousin; but he would be better placed in Bethel history if I said that his family were otherwise known as Lord's Orchestra. My other correspondent has been Mike Stowell, Gould Academy 1958.

Since our first communication, Mike has sent me a copy of a letter which is of historical significance in Bethel. It is a 1913 letter from Carroll E. Valentine written while in his first year at Dartmouth College to Prof. Hanscom, principal of Gould Academy. The letter describes his experiences after arriving in Hanover, N.H., and expresses confidence that his Gould education and experience will capably see him through the coming years at Dartmouth. Mr. Valentine descended from a family that had previously made other notable contributions to education in Bethel in the last part of the 19th Century.

Canoe launching and fishing along the big A in this part of Mayville has been made more difficult this summer due to riverbank flood damage. However, the River View solved their launch site problem by moving it downstream. Their new site with river viewing chairs, two canoes and three kayaks, makes launching much easier and has good fishing possibilities besides.

Gary Szpara told me that the Shriners met at the Rooster's

Roadhouse on Wednesday, July 19. They had traditional dinners of Baked Haddock, Yankee Pot Roast, and Roasted Chicken, with fresh strawberry shortcake. After dinner they then surprised Gary and the staff with a round of applause and sincere thanks. Servers that night were Michele and Lacy. Michele owns the Pleasant River Campground; she has been our server there, too. Gary also said that his niece had her hips repaired at the Boston Shriners hospital at no cost when she was 12 years old. He emphasized how for him it was a personal example of what a great organization the Shriners have been over the years. Last Saturday the restaurant had quite a few groups from the Maine Forest Rally who really enjoyed their Maine lobster dinners which Gary has made as the restaurant's Maine seafood special. Mayville businesses really do benefit when groups like these find places here that give them reason to return.

Jenni Fredricks from the Briar Lea reported that Frank McCourt's daughter Maggie and her small son Jack had dinner at the Jolly Drayman last week. McCourt is the author of "Angela's Ashes" and other novels laced together with Irish characters. Maggie told the Fredricks that she would bring her father to their pub for a Guinness the next time that he visits her in Vermont. Now, that is one advantage gleaned from Mayville and Vermont both lying along Route 2.

From the "This Just In" department, at the Bethel selectmen's special Monday night meeting on a Mayville sewer plan five Mayvillians attended: Mike Pelletier, Jeff Parsons, John and Dale Cheney and your reporter. (I held proxies to speak very generally for the McGrew's, the Fredricks and Gary Szpara.) There were three points that I carried away from the meeting: The town office will prepare an information package for all Mayville property owners which I have volunteered to distribute door to door hopefully by Aug. 10. Secondly, Mr. Pelletier will possibly come up with a proposal for the town to consider on getting a sewer line to Twitchell Brook Estates before the end of the year or earlier. Thirdly,

I believe that I got the message across to the selectmen that some of the Mayville businesses, particularly the River View and the Briar Lea, and the Bennett's as private home owners want to see sidewalks constructed as part of a total infrastructure package. Coming to our rescue, Jeff Parsons very gently and politely suggested to the board of selectmen that with Mayville's development prospects in mind that now was the time for the board to demonstrate leadership and not back away from the sewer system expansion.

Remember please that if you have Mayville news or comments — my telephone number is 824-2094 or e-mail at Donald@thebetheljournals.info.

Andover

Hello readers here is this week's news. I would like to start off by wishing my daughter Sarah a Happy 13th Birthday today. Happy Birthday Sarah! It seems like yesterday when I rushed to Norway at 2 a.m.

Congratulations to Keith Farrington, who recently received his associate's degree in business. He was also Magna Cum Laude — quite an honor! Your family is proud of you Keith.

Guests of the Swains this past month have been son Rodney, Jericho, Vt., grandson Matt Swain and friend Amanda, Rochester, N.Y., and the Holt and Stile families of Dummer, N.H.

On July 28, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hall will celebrate their 47th anniversary. Mrs. Hall is the former Donna White.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dorey, East Andover, have traveled many miles in their motor home this summer.

Mrs. Earle Towne celebrated her birthday in July at Dolly Copp Campground with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Meisner celebrated her July birthday visiting his sister, Sylvia Witham in Brunswick.

Many in town enjoyed picking strawberries this month. Now is the raspberries, blueberries and blackberries.

Paula Michaud Valazquez and her two sons have returned home to Phoenix, Ariz., after spending two weeks with her parents, Mr and Mrs. Gerald Michaud.

Mr and Mrs. Freeman Farrington have returned from a trip to Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia. They traveled via the "Cat."

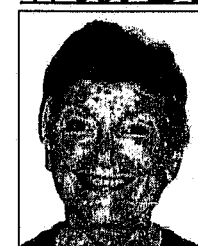

Dick and Polly Johnston, Spanaway, Wash., are in town for a few weeks' visit. Their daughter, Joye, will be arriving next week to join her parents for a week's visit in Andover, before they all return.

Belated Happy Birthday wishes to Lindsey Milligan, who celebrated a birthday last week.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Stanley Palmer, Mexico, who passed away on Saturday, July 22. Besides his wife and children of Mexico and the Rumford area, he has several relatives who live in Andover.

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh

The virgin's bower (wild clematis) has started to bloom, along with sunny sprays of goldenrod. I read or heard somewhere that in Britain, gardeners purposely plant goldenrod in their gardens, along with ironweed, which is deep purple. It sounds lovely to me, and I often pick goldenrod to have in a vase in the house. Haven't found any ironweed nearby, alas.

We haven't noticed much bird activity at the Hoehstead lately, apart from the hummingbirds. The Innans, however, report that they have a family of titmice on their property, as well as some new red-breasted nuthatches. Lesley, a wildlife biologist, has an acquaintance who monitors the peregrine falcons and has observed at least two successful nesting sites in our area, one with three nestlings and one with two. They are really quite beautiful birds. In cities they are famous for roosting on skyscraper ledges and controlling the pigeon population.

Caili and Ani Inman have been taking swimming lessons again this summer, and their teacher is Ellie Kingsbury, another neighbor. The heavy equipment we've been hearing recently has been digging footers for the Innans' new garage, currently under construction. Gary plans to have enough room for a workshop and an indoor-outdoor dog pen in the new building.

We had planned to go sailing last weekend with friends on Chesapeake Bay. They contacted us, however, and said that the heat and humidity down there made the sailing very unpleasant, so the trip has been postponed. Turns out it was a good decision, because they called on Saturday to say it was pouring in Philadelphia and points south, and a sailboat was definitely not the place to be.

Instead, we enjoyed a visit from our Boston family, who arrived on Monday and left on Saturday. Grandsons Owen, 15, and Robbie, 11, had a great time visiting with their Bethel cousins, Molly and Andrew Siegel, and Chris and Nick Schwarz. There was a great deal of backing and forth- ing, and trips to various water holes, the Casablanca, and BIG Adventure. On Friday Molly brought her friend Helen Cooper to share the pool with Nick, Robbie, and Andrew.

The Gilbert family has had its share of sorrow this past year, with the deaths of Arthur, then his wife Ruth, and just last Friday, Shirley Gilbert. Marilyn and Shirley had celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on May 30, and more recently had the pleasure of seeing their granddaughter carry on family tradition by getting married in the West Bethel Union Church on July 8. We are all diminished by Shirley's passing, but there is a bittersweet comfort in knowing he had at least two wonderful family events beforehand. Our deepest sympathy and sincere condolences go out to the whole Gilbert family.

Sunday was Open Farm Day, and Sunday River Alpacs entertained visitors all day. I was there spinning fleece from the crias (baby alpacas), to show that even the babies are useful. From my seat on the porch of the Farm Shop, I could see that both adults and children were enjoying meeting the "pacas and the Great Pyrenees guard dogs, Barker and Aurora. Almost everyone also strolled over to the trout pond to watch the greedy fish go after the pellets that were thrown into the water. The weather cooperated beautifully, with a partly sunny, breezy day, and not too much heat.

Jane Hosterman was bemoaning the fact that she had a freezer breakdown and lost everything she'd had therein. When I talked to her, she was trying to clean her hands of all the purple juice from thawed and ruined plums and berries. What a mess! I don't envy her the cleanup, nor the loss of all that food.

West Bethel Union Church had another of its fellowship potluck suppers Saturday night. It was the best of the season, attendance wise, in spite of monsoon weather and competing suppers. As usual the food and fellowship were both wonderful.

Those who attended Sunday's post-service coffee at the West Bethel Church were treated to some of Lynne Kulik's birthday cake. Lynne and her husband come to West Bethel every summer and live in their motor home just off Route 2 on the Flat Road. Lynne is very proud to tell one and all that she is now 65 and eligible for Medicare! Happy Birthday, Lynne, and may you have very little need of Medicare benefits.

Gilead

by
Lin Chapman

This past weekend was nice without the hot and humid weather from last week. Hugh and I stopped at Doris Fraser's house in Bethel to drop off some pictures for Richard Fraser on our way to Lovell Old Home Days. We arrived in Lovell just after the parade. Senator Bruce Bryant was driving out as we were walking into the Athletic Field. We got lunch from the Lovell Lion's booth and stopped by the Lovell Historical Society's booth and chatted with their president, Catherine Stone. Just as we were leaving the rain started to come down.

We came home by the way of Route 113. It is such a pleasant ride up through Evans Notch with the winding road and trees hanging over the road. We stopped at the Brickett Place and were in luck that it was open for the afternoon. We got to see the timeline that was created about the Brickett Place and the surrounding area. The Gilead Historical Society supplied some of the pictures for the timeline. The gentleman that works for the U.S. Forest Service, Calvert Hunt, showed us around the house and we talked about some of its history.

Steve McLain got a surprise visit from one of his former classmates from Gould Academy. Cliff Jackson was in town for a few days and stopped by to visit.

Fabian and Carole Corriveau and children made a trip to Newport News, Va., this past weekend. They were there to attend the wedding of Carole's sister.

It seems that I am always running into my neighbors either in Shaw's or Wal-Mart in Gorham, N.H. Two weeks in a row, I got to visit with Patty Lowell and her son, James, of Newry. I turned the corner and there was Linda Smith and two of her grandchildren, Morgan and Tanner McLean. A few aisles over I saw Ann Marie Choquette and we were discussing the very large plane that flew over Gilead last week. It was flying very low and it came from the direction of Bethel and made a wide turn and headed back.

I saw a bird out back of the house this past weekend that I had to look up in the bird book. The only match that I could find was an American redstart. It was about the size of a chickadee and black with patches of orange on its tail and wings. It was too small and not colored right to be an oriole.

Special Selectmen's Meeting

There will be a Special Selectmen's meeting on Thursday, July 27 (tonight) at the Town Hall at 7 p.m. They will be discussing the articles that will be on the warrant for the Special Town Meeting to be held on Wednesday, Aug. 9, at 7 p.m. at the Town Hall.

Gilead Historical Society
Other than our trip to Lovell to check things out at their event for future reference, things are quiet. Next week there will be news of the Cohen exhibit hosted with Bethel Historical Society.

We have a small garden and pond/waterway in our front yard, complete with re-circulating pump which returns water through an underground pipe to a small "bio-falls" and short, crooked rocky brook leading back to the pond. Mona has done a beautiful job of planting flowers and shrubs in the surrounding rock garden. Every spring we put four or five small 25-cent goldfish from Wal-Mart into the pond for the summer. (They never survive the winter!)

Three or four weeks ago, Matt, Monica and Boston put their two goldfish (one gray and one white with orange patches) into our pond for the summer. We wondered why every morning the white/orange goldfish was in the enclosed box containing filters and the circulating pump. Why was that stupid fish in the filter net, where I scooped it up and tossed it back into the pond on a daily basis?

Last week I discovered why. The white/orange fish has a "triple tail fin," with the three fins joined at an apex and radiating outward like a three-bladed airplane propeller. After I tossed the white/orange fish back into the pond, I watched the 25-cent Wal-Mart goldfish, about a third the size of the white one, run his nose right up into the apex of the "triple tailer" and push it all around the pond until the white one gave up and swam into the pump box filter bag! I don't know whether the gold one was just being aggressive and pushy, or if he had rape on his mind.

I have been servicing emergency response units for folks in the Bethel area since Lindsey Wieden moved away three or four years ago. These units consist of a pendant with a push-button signal which the patient wears around his/her neck and a telephone modem box which is connected to the phone line. In an emergency when the patient cannot reach the phone, they need only press the pendant button, and it signals the modem box to call the emergency response center for help.

Lindley was servicing about 15 units purchased by the Mundt-Allen Legion Post and the Bethel Senior Citizens Club. He gave me a list of people with these units, so I could assist when any problems arise with them. This worked pretty well until recently, when a couple people called me to report trouble with their units, and they were not on my list. Come to find out there were at least two other organizations that had purchased units and were no longer servicing them, the Bethel Rotary and the Locke Mills Legion Post.

I am trying to get to all the folks who have these units to have them test them to make sure they still work. Some of them have been in people's houses for five or six years, or more, and they may no longer work. I have encountered three which were not working, so far. I send the inoperative units to the distributor, who gets them repaired and returned at no cost to me or the patients.

I encourage anyone who has one of these units to push the pendant button at least once a month (like when you get your monthly bill) to make sure they work correctly. If they work, the Emergency Response Center should phone you back within about two minutes after you push the button; if they do not, the unit is not working.

The only trouble with all this, for me, is that I don't plan to make this a full-time job, because I am an unpaid volunteer. I charge a $15 fee to install new units to cover gas and nothing to keep them in service.

If you have one of these units that is not working, call me, and I will respond until I get too many on my list. I may be out of town for a few days at a time, but I will eventually try to get back to you. At some point, I need another good Samaritan volunteer to take over some of the units.

The days continue to be hot but not so humid. A little rain falls each day cooling all down.

For church news: on Sunday, July 30, at the West Summer Universalist Church the Rev. Scott Jones will be the speaker. Children will be christened also. All are welcome.

Over the weekend Beverly and Vince Stevens entertained Muriel and Steve Bunker and Lisa and Christopher, and Roger and Beverly Thayer. On Saturday, Ann and Fred Goulding hosted a "Christmas in July" Party at their home at Labrador Pond with a cook-out between the rain drops. Those present were Beverly and Vince Stevens, Georgina Thayer, Lee Dean, Dustin Tilley, Darcy Robinson and Nick, Bruce and Flora Thayer and Florence Lawrence, David Sargent and friend Jean Cook, Everet Bunker and friend Jennifer with Anthony and "Crigger," Nick Goulding, Muriel and Steve Bunker, and Roger and Beverly Thayer, and Beverly and Vince Stevens.

Sayward Lamb celebrated his 79th birthday with a family gathering at his summer home on North Pond. The swimming was cooling for it was a hot day.

Hanover

by Clem Worcester

The bottle drive, organized and run by Sarah Moir to raise money for the Gardner Roberts Memorial Library Moving Fund, ended on July 16. Sarah reports that she collected over 13,700 containers in 17 days and raised $688.25 for the library. Sarah thanks the entire community for their outstanding support in the effort. The campaign result exceeded her expectations and was a rewarding experience.

Gardner Roberts Memorial Library president, Donna Worcester, on behalf of the library and members of the Hanover community, expressed gratitude to Sarah Moir for her efforts during the bottle drive benefit. Sarah demonstrated leadership capabilities beyond her 13 years of age. Sarah also had a successful fundraiser last year. Her careful planning for home pick-ups and to have a drop site ensured the success of her endeavor. Thanks are also expressed to Sarah's parents, Tracy and Jim Moir, for their help and support with the project. The library is grateful, too, for the support from the many folks who donated returnables. Collections came from Hanover, Howard Pond and from good people throughout the region. Sarah, her family, and the community have encouraged the hope that the lovely little library will some day soon be delivered to its new home.

The Hanover Planning Board has expressed frustration with violations concerning land use violations. The board has given notice that in the future violations will be met with fines.

Betty Hayden has been in and out of the Rumford Hospital over the past several weeks. She returned home last Saturday.

I am glad to see someone is writing Middle Intervale news.

Good for Pat Carter for doing the news up that way. I can remember there used to be Middle Intervale news written by Lyndell Carter.

Rudi and Barbara Honkala are being visited by a friend, Charlotte Gill, from Anchorage, Alaska. They picked her up at Portland on July 19 and she returned home on July 25.

Tonya Hebert was chosen as Princess Mollycoddett this year.

Wally and Jim Hannigan are new grandparents. Katy Cyr had a baby boy, Boden Ryan, born on June 28.

Ryan Bernier of Camden, S.C., and a classmate, Angie Applin Goode of Virginia Beach, Va., were home for the Class of 1991 reunion at Telstar from July 14 to 16. They shared driving up.

Adrienne LaBlake of Englewood, Fla., visited Andre and Flossie Bernier from July 18 to 25.

I hope everyone has a nice week. Maybe the air will dry out a little more. God Bless the Troops.

people were in. Mary helped Larry with some things and he made room for the notebooks she gave the society. The Society Museum has great quality and variety in its exhibits. They have everything from fine furniture and art to textiles and tools. The research library and small store also are appealing. Society members serve as guides every Saturday afternoon from 1 to 4 p.m.

Everyone is welcome to visit them. Your support can make a difference. It may be as simple as leaving a donation at the door or working regularly for the society. People are needed on committees to plan programs or watch the museum. Mary Billings donated a series of notebooks to the society covering the last 20 years. They contain many clippings and articles to fill in the gap in Bryant Pond history left when Ruby Emery died. She has put a lot of hard work in them and they are a vital legacy for the future.

The Annual Picnic, a barbecue, will be held at the Billings' home on Aug. 12 at 6 p.m. The History Day will be held on Saturday, Aug. 19 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Historical Museum. To rent a table in the parking lot call Mary Billings at 665-2560.

Waterford

by Rockie Graham

Finally we get a beautiful day. It is Monday and I hope the rest of the week or at least the next few days are as beautiful.

The sun will help to make the plants bear fruit and the flowers to smile. We need rain, but we also need sun. We have quite a few volunteer sunflowers blooming and may have some kinds of squash-like volunteers, too. Can't wait to see.

Have not seen too many deer or moose lately. Must be out at the wrong times. Have seen a turkey or two, but not the huge numbers I was seeing at this time last year.

I just got a piano. We found one for free in Uncle Henry's and after much dickering, borrowed a truck to go and get it. Now all I have to do is find someone to tune it.

Missed the Waterford World's Fair, again, but working on the weekends, I miss most fairs. I did go to Bev and Brian's 25th Wedding Anniversary Party. It rained the whole time, and a great time was had by all. I got to see people in a different light than I usually do.

David has taken out papers to run for selectman. If you see him, be sure to ask if you can sign his paper. He needs 25 signatures of registered Waterford voters. I'm prejudiced, but I think he'd do a great job. He has a great sense of humor and he is the fairest person I know.

Summer will be over before we know it and I have not gone swimming once. My days off almost all are raining. If not, I have a million errands to do. Perhaps I'll get there yet.

This Thursday, the 27th, Mountain Poets will hold their reading. I am gearing up by trying to write a poem about the events of the day. I may be too close to them to do so, but I am trying. In any case, the reading is the 27th at 7 p.m. at the Fare Share Commons on Main Street in Norway. FMI come to the Commons or call Lisa at 743-9808.

Aug. 2, next Wednesday, is the next Community Breakfast at the Wilkins House. It is from 7:30 to 10 a.m. Adults are $5 and 5-10 are $3. Children under 5 are free. The menu includes eggs, bacon, sausage, pancakes, muffins, donuts, juice and coffee. The Wilkins House is on Plummer Hill Road past the village common.

That is all for this week. Enjoy the sun and the warm weather. It won't last!

Western Maine Cultural Alliance

The Western Maine Cultural Alliance (WMCA) is constructing a new website. Originally launched as part of a cultural inventory process called Discovery Research, the old website, www.westernmaineculture.org, is in process. The new website will be www.westernmaineculture.org. In process are new Web pages, one of which will feature artists of all types and styles with contact information including Web links. "We want to level the playing field for artists, in western Maine, by giving them inexpensive access to the Web," says WMCA Director Toni Seger. "Because we are a certified nonprofit, we can get links with sites like Maine Tourism that will generate a good deal of traffic for us."

Artists have been signing up for the Web page, which is limited in the number of spots available. "We limited it because we're concerned about download times," says Seger. "We want it to be user friendly." For more information about participating, contact Pat Chandler at 743-8033 or pchandler@gwi.net. Chandler is a visual artist who was the curator for The Gallery at Maine Wildlife Park, during the summer of 2005.

Mundt-Allen Post

The American Legion Mundt-Allen Post 81 will hold its annual picnic on Sunday, Aug. 13, at the Legion Hall on Vernon Street. Dinner will be served at 12 noon. Members are asked to bring a salad, side dish or dessert to share, and to bring their own place settings, if possible.

Chicken or steak will be provided by the post, but a $5 donation per person is requested to help defray the cost.

Please make a reservation, including your choice of meat, with Sylvia Clanton (824-2629) or Jeri Greenwell (824-2532) not later than Aug. 3 so that the right amount of food can be ordered.

Whitman Memorial Library

The Board of Trustees held its quarterly meeting on July 20. We are pleased with the turnout for the summer story hour. Approximately 11 or 12 children are attending. Valerie Billings reported that Clara Nadeau has been volunteering and doing a great job with stories and crafts. They are even talking about offering two groups next year, a pre-school group and one for older children.

On Aug. 19, we will be having a special event to wrap up our summer program. It is specifically for our story hour children, but will be open to the public as well. Dana Perkins, magician and ventriloquist, will be our guest. This will be from 10 to 11 a.m. on Saturday, Aug. 19. So mark your calendar now.

Our monthly programs for adults will be starting up on the second Thursday of September and local author, Nancy Draper, will be our first guest.

We are very pleased to have paintings by a local artist, Elena Noyes, on display at this time. Come in and enjoy them while looking for a book or movie. Our last artist sold two paintings that were on display. So if you would like to buy any paintings when we are showing them, just check with the artist, or the librarian can put you in touch with the artist.

We have had lots of books donated to the library recently. Our librarian is going over them to see what we can put into circulation and what should be put into a book sale. We have not had a specific book sale this summer, but do have an ongoing sale. When you visit the library check out our sale books and leave a donation, which will be much appreciated.

We now have three computers that are available for use by the public.

We also want to remind the public that since we have fixed up the basement we have that space, as well as the library space, which could be used for a variety of functions. There are no kitchen facilities. However, we do not expect money for nonprofit groups who would like to use the building. We do accept donations from anyone offering a program to make money. Of course, we accept donations from anyone, and we do appreciate them.

Mr. Gil Whitman has touched up the paint on the beautiful butterfly sculpture and it looks great. Be sure to look at that when you visit.

From Waterford Grange

At our June 12 meeting we held elections for the new year and results are as follows: master, Linda Hooker; overseer, Shirley Chaplin; lecturer, Kathy Lorrain; Steward, Sharon McAllister; assistant steward, Hugh Roak; lady assistant steward, Maxine Roak; chaplain, Mary Andrews; treasurer, Marjorie Kimball; secretary, Barbara Sanborn; gatekeeper, Wayne Lorrain; Ceres, Viola McAllister; Pomona, Joan Frobig; Flora, Janice Inman; Executive Committee, George Frobig (three years).

Following the elections Kathy Lorrain presented a most fascinating lecturer's program called a "Dessert Social." Lots of laughter, fun and delicious desserts were shared by all Grange members attending. Maxine Roak, on behalf of the Waterford 479 Grange, presented Master Linda Hooker with a Past Masters pin.

Waterford Grange 479 meets the second Monday at 7:30 p.m. of each month at our wonderful Grange hall on the Valley Road in Waterford. We are a friendly Grange and new members are always welcome.

From U.M. Cooperative Extension

At the Pine Tree State 4-H Foundation's recent Annual Meeting, seven 4-H members were each awarded $1,000 to help finance their educational goals.

As expressed by Dr. Fred Schlutt, executive director of the foundation, "Post secondary education scholarships are an important offering of the 4-H Foundation. They reward the hard work of our graduating 4-H members and also display the dedication of 4-H to higher levels of learning."

The recipient of the Claude Clement Scholarship was Colleen Slattery of Gilead. A 4-H member for twelve years, Colleen credits her sense of respect, responsibility, and determination to her 4-H education.

She served as secretary to the Tally-Ho 4-H Horse club, and volunteered at a 4-H after-school program. Colleen plans to attend the University of Maine at Farmington.

Young people can become involved in 4-H through school enrichment programs, 4-H camps, and county UMaine Extension offices.

4-H is the University of Maine Cooperative Extension's youth development program.

From Mahoosuc Community Band

The Mahoosuc Community Band would like to thank everyone who supported us during the Mollycodd Day festivities. We would especially like to thank Lowell's Saw Shop for the use of the trailer during the parade and during our Memorial Day parades earlier this summer. We would also like to thank Maine Line Products for the use of their truck for the parades.

Our next Bethel concert will be at the Gazebo on the evening of Monday, August 28. This will surely be an event not to be missed.

From Oxford Hills AARP

The Oxford Hills AARP group is participating in several great trips that are coming up.

On Sept. 13-14, there is a two-day, one-night trip to Bar Harbor. Enjoy a relaxed visit to this most beautiful area of Maine. It includes the hotel overlooking the bay, three meals including a Lobster Bake, a bus tour of the Park and a two-hour Windjammer Cruise. There are 12 seats remaining and the cost is $276/pp for a double, payable before Aug. 1.

On Oct. 17, there will be a day trip to Salem, Mass., the "Witch City." After an orientation film, you will be on your own to explore the many historic sites, museums, Pickering Wharf, shops and restaurants. Reservations have been made for a 4 p.m. dinner at Warren's Lobster House in Kittery, where they have delicious seafood and are well known for their extensive salad bar. The cost is $47 for the bus and trolley, and $16 for dinner, your choice of entree. Send your $30 deposit now and the remaining cost is due Oct. 3.

There are two trips planned for the holidays — Dec. 8 to see "The Radio City Christmas Spectacular" at the Wang Center in Boston and "The Magic of Christmas" on Dec. 15 at the Merrill Auditorium in Portland. Each show will fill you with the holiday spirit. The Boston trip is $97/pp with only a few seats left and the Portland trip is $70/pp, which includes lunch. On each trip there will be shopping in the morning, either at Quincy Market or at Maine Mall and the performance will be in the afternoon. Final payment for the Rockettes Show is Oct. 31 and for The Magic of Christmas is Nov. 11.

Please call Henrietta Taft to reserve your seat (743-6722) and then mail your deposit check to: Walter Taft, 1024 Gore Road, Otisfield, ME 04270. Assigned seating is in order of deposit received.

From the Charlotte Hobbs Memorial Library

The Charlotte Hobbs Library and the Brick Church for the Performing Arts in Lovell, joined by Bridgton's Lake Region Television, have received major funding from the Maine Arts Commission, an independent state agency supported by the National Endowment for the Arts. The grant will support storytelling workshops for adults and for young people ages 8-14, as well as the Community Storytelling Festival for children and adults on Sunday afternoon and evening, Aug. 13.

Building on the success of last year's groundbreaking festival, this year's event will showcase the storytelling of deaf and hearing residents of Maine to create understanding, diminish isolation, and build community. Beyond cross-cultural understanding, the workshops and festival aim to increase community appreciation of the artistry of storytelling both in English and in American Sign Language. One of the deaf members of the audience in 2005 commented, "This was a model of integration, rather than just providing access to Deaf people." A hearing listener said, "It was wonderful seeing the dance between the two ways of telling."

The Community Storytelling Festival fulfills a need for residents of western Maine. According to the Maine Department of Behavioral and Developmental Services, 8.5 percent of Maine's people are deaf or hard of hearing. Of those, 10 percent (about 10,200) are profoundly deaf. Virtually no public artistic or cultural programming is available or accessible for deaf residents of towns in western Maine, who must travel long distances — at least to Portland, or to Baxter — to find accessible events and programs. Furthermore, although deaf people are able to view hearing stories through the impersonal medium of closed-captioned television, they have almost no chance to converse face to face or to exchange stories with hearing people.

Although this situation is in itself a serious enough indication of need, it fosters a more widespread need as well: not only are western Maine's deaf people isolated from their local communities, but their hearing neighbors have no experience or understanding of deaf culture. The expressive arts of deaf people — their vivid performances, stories, traditional jokes, visual poems — are largely unknown to the hearing. Having no access to the stories of deaf lives, hearing people are unaware of the energetic, resourceful, and resilient culture of deafness. Lovell's Community Storytelling Festival is a step in the right direction.

"Planning for the festival is proceeding under the leadership of Lovell storyteller Jo Radner and deaf culture specialist Ruth Moore, augmented this year by internationally famous Maine storyteller and author Michael Parent, who will teach a portion of the children's workshop. Lake Region Television of Bridgton will film the festival, broadcast it on cable, and produce DVDs for distribution. All events are free and open to the public. For more information, call the Charlotte Hobbs Library at 935-3177.

From Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

An exhibit, "Cohen, Congress, and Controversy: Rediscovering Civics in the Archives" opened on July 25 in the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center's G. Neil Robinson House.

The exhibit, focusing on Congressman and later U.S. Senator William S. Cohen's oversight record in the years 1973-1997, is highlighted by items from the collection of the Bethel Historical Society as well as loans from individuals. It is sponsored by the University of Maine's Fogler Library in cooperation with the William S. Cohen Center at the University.

Local hosts on July 25 were the Bethel and Gilead historical societies.

Designed to travel the route Cohen walked in his tour of the Second Congressional District in 1972 to win his seat in Congress, the exhibit will eventually arrive at the end of the line in Fort Kent.

With the mid-term elections now only months away, critics of Congress appear to be everywhere. But how well do they or many of us understand how Congress really works? This new exhibit from William S. Cohen Papers seeks to shed light on how Congress is designed to work and what politicians do on a day-to-day basis in Washington.

The exhibit, "Cohen, Congress and Controversy" is a six-panel exhibit which uses facsimiles of photographs, handwritten notes, speeches, and campaign memorabilia from the former Congressman's political papers to bring the legislative branch into focus.

Topics include Bill Cohen's successful bid for Maine's second district seat, the powers of Congress granted by the Constitution, the busy life of a Senator using Cohen's book about his first year there, and the oversight of Congress illustrated with documents from the Watergate and Iran-Contra investigations. The freestanding exhibit includes interactive panels designed to appeal to students as well.

"The Cohen Papers are open for research," says Fogler Library Dean Joyce Rumery. "The traveling exhibit invites people all across Maine to glimpse the richness of the collection," she continued.

Former Secretary of Defense Cohen donated his political papers, all 1,500 boxes of documents and photographs to the Raymond H. Fogler Library at the University of Maine in 1996. He added a selection of Department of Defense material on sixteen compact discs in 2001. The University of Maine is also home to the William S. Cohen Center for International Policy and Commerce.

The exhibit will be in Bethel until Sept. 8 after which it will travel along the route of Cohen's 1972 campaign walk from the state line in Gilead to Fort Kent. The exhibit will move from Bethel to the Wilton Free Public Library in early September to the Lewiston Public Library in late October.

Yankee Brass Band

The Bethel Historical Society will be hosting the Yankee Brass Band on Saturday, July 29, on the lawn of the Dr. Moses Mason House beginning at 6:30 p.m. (rain location, the West Parish Congregational Church). One of the highlights of the Bethel performance will be the playing of music by Bethel's Hosea Ripley, whose compositions have been played at the Smithsonian in Washington, D.C., and are archived in Lincoln Center in New York.

These performances in Waterville, Boothbay Harbor, Portland, North Conway and finally in Bethel offer a unique opportunity to hear and see a brass band as people in an earlier era would have experienced music of the time.

There is no admission charge, but sponsors are welcomed and the list of those supporting this event will be posted at the concert. Anyone wishing to become a sponsor of this or other Bethel Historical Society summer events is cordially invited to do so by sending a tax-deductible contribution to the society at P.O. Box 12, Bethel, ME 04217-0012.

Several members of the Yankee Brass Band were involved in the production of the PBS Civil War series. Many of the original pieces of the 19th century music played by this band including some traced from copies of old band programs, have been researched, restored and arranged for the Yankee Brass Band by Paul Maybery, noted musicologist and music historian. Although from the Minnesota area, he has spent much time in New England researching music. Not only are the largest collections of period music located in New England, but many local bands still have music in their libraries.

Paul Maybery has served as guest conductor at the Ford's Theater Commemorative Concert on the anniversary of Lincoln's assassination. Many of the instruments themselves from the collections of Yankee Brass musicians appeared in the Civil War film Glory.

The musicians of the Yankee Brass Band — like those of the last century — come from all walks of life, engineers, doctors, teachers, consultants, professional musicians, and a host of others. They come from all around the United States to share a common love and respect for the music of early brass bands. Many of them direct or perform with similar bands in their home towns.

The integrated expertise of these musicians produces one of New England's most entertaining and informative musical events. The Yankee Brass Band, its collection of antique instruments and authentic musical scores, gives audiences an auditory living-history experience they will long remember. The quicksteps and gallops, polkas, mazurkas, schottishes and waltzes, and the many overtures and medleys popular in the mid-19th century make up the program of the typical brass band concert heard in the past and recreated for audiences today.

Further information about the society and its activities may be obtained by calling 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910, or by sending an e-mail to info@bethelhistorical.org. Additional information can also be obtained by checking the society's website at www.bethelhistorical.org. The society's mailing address is P.O. Box 12, Bethel, ME 04217-0012.

Andover Summer Teams

ANDOVER FARM TEAM
Playing softball for Andover in the Rumford Farm Team League this season were: Front: Katie Merrill, Lisa Gammon, Brianna Vitale, Taylor Merrill, Sierra Gray, Ellie Conrad. Back: coach Abby Mills, Kasey Smith, Kelsey Averill, Katie Mills, Cassidy Smith, Zoey Perham, C.J. Chase, Gaby Conrad and asst. coach Bob Chase. Absent: Tamika Cole, Brianna Jennings and Kayla Cole.

THE BEAST OF THE EAST, GRCC 12U BASEBALL ALL-STARS, sailed through its preliminary games in the Farmington Elks Annual Tournament held in Farmington the weekend of July 21 - 23. With 10 teams in the tournament, early wins over North Franklin, Farmington, Augusta and Waterville sent the boys into the Championship round with no losses before losing their first game to the Waterville Underdogs, 3-2. They prevailed in the second game, 8-3 to take the first place trophies home. Defensively, Josh Turbide, Daniel Vaughn and Izaak Mills were solid on the mound. Cody St. Germain, Mills, and Turbide kept many runners at bay from behind the plate while infielding snags were led by Jake Durland including a double play at first base to secure the Championship win. Caleb Turner and Adam Mahar let nothing by them at 2nd base, while Vaughn at shortstop was just unstoppable in the entire 6-game series. Incredible outfielding by Spencer Trenworth, Brett Pingree, Shawn Roberts, Brian Blackman, T.J. Frost, Caleb Hall and Turner was highlighted by runners being thrown out at home and at 2nd by Blackman, Frost and Hall throughout the weekend. The groups slogan "Beast of the East" was devised by assistant coach David Frost and was key in focusing the boys on their game and goal. A pink helmet, lent to the team by a sister, Kate Mills, was key to the offense, and quickly became known as the Beast, to be unleashed when the team needed an extra boost. Izaak Mills brought it out to spark a rally in the Augusta game when the team was down by two and sparked an eight-run game winning inning, and again when going up against the Waterville team. He hit his second over the fence homerun of the series. The 12U East All-Stars was comprised of Andover, Rumford Point, Peru and Dixfield Little League players, who participated with their individual teams in the GRCC Summer League. Other teams participating in the tournament included Wilton, Skowhegan, Rumford West, Jay, and the Waterville Pumas. Besides winning the first place trophy, the team was tied for the Sportsmanship and Desire Award with the Waterville Pumas, but it was given to the Puma's because the East had advanced to the Championship round. Front: The Pink Helmet. Middle: Caleb Hall (Dixfield), Adam Mahar (Andover), Shawn Roberts (Rumford Point), Brett Pingree (Rumford Point), Brian Blackman (Peru), T.J. Frost (Dixfield); Back: Assist. Coach Sue Mills (Andover), Statistician Steve Turbide (Dixfield), Izaak Mills (Andover), Daniel Vaughn (Andover), Jake Dowland (Peru), Cody St. Germain (Dixfield) Spencer Trenworth (Peru), Josh Turbide (Dixfield), Caleb Turner (Dixfield), head coach Don St. Germain (Dixfield), and assist. coach Dave Frost (Dixfield).

From Western Maine University and Community College Center

Busy professionals seeking advanced credentials can take most or all of the courses leading to a master's degree from the University of Maine or the University of Southern Maine at Western Maine University and Community College Center.

This fall, 28 university graduate courses will be offered online or via interactive television (ITV) and videoconference at Western Maine University and Community College Center. Located at 232 Main Street, Western Maine University and Community College Center (WMUCC), provides access to the following university master's degree programs:

--University of Maine's Master of Arts in Liberal Studies with a concentration in Maine Studies. This non-thesis program allows students to study Maine through a variety of disciplines including history, literature, political science, anthropology, and other disciplines. Most courses are available online and through other distance technologies.

--University of Southern Maine's Master of Science in Adult Education. This program prepares graduates to be thoughtful, critical adult educators prepared to work in a variety of adult educational settings. Courses are available online and via one-week intensives at the Gorham campus.

--University of Maine's Master of Science in Computer Engineering non-thesis program. To become a candidate for this online degree program, students need a bachelor of science degree in Computer Engineering or its equivalent.

--University of Southern Maine's Master of Science in Counseling with a concentration in Rehabilitation Counseling. Students acquire the basic foundation, knowledge, skills and experiences necessary to enter the profession. Courses for more than 30 of the 48 credit hours are available by videoconference.

--University of Maine's Master of Science in Electrical Engineering non-thesis option also is available online. Students must have completed a bachelor of science degree in Electrical Engineering or its equivalent to become a candidate.

Registration is open for the fall 2006 semester, which, for most courses, begins the week of Sept. 5. For more information about university master's programs or to meet with an advisor, please contact Nikki Abbott at 743-9322.

Scholarships offered
WMUCC is pleased to announce the availability of Osher Scholarships of up to $550 for people who may not otherwise be considering college.

To qualify, a student must be a Maine resident, a high school graduate or GED recipient, and someone who is committed to completing a 100, 200 or developmental level course offered through University College at South Paris.

Once enrolled, students receive personalized support from experienced counselors who want them to succeed. Tutoring assistance is available, as well as workshops on developing study skills, time organization strategies and other skills that will help students make the most of college. The goal of the program is to invite participation in a college course while encouraging the Osher Scholar to apply for both admission into a degree program and for financial aid to assist in paying for it.

Call Nikki Abbott 743-9322 at the University College campus in South Paris today for more information about the Osher Scholarship program, courses and degree programs of the University of Maine System, and for a scholarship request form. Fall 2006 classes begin Sept. 5. Now is the time to start the process for taking a college course on an Osher Scholarship this fall.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU
MAKING CHOICES
Buying a home isn't easy. You may have a good idea of what you want and how much you want to spend, but your search produces a wide array of homes on the market and a bewildering set of financing options.
As your Realtor, my job is to minimize the confusion and help match you to the best home and loan for your needs and pocketbook. I will listen to your requirements and eliminate from consideration the properties that aren't suitable for you. If there is a gap between your taste and how much you feel comfortable spending, I can help you decide where to compromise and can suggest financing plans to increase your buying power. When you have selected a home, your next step is to find a lender, a qualified structural inspector, and a termite inspector.
For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771
